

ORANGE CRUSH

A happy go lucky bunch of guys walked out onto the field of play at The Park full of expectation of an early season ramble. An hour and thirty minutes later, a worried look had set on their faces; all had not gone well; questions had to be asked. The team of course was Aural Sculpture. It is fair to point out that it was not the full first team line up. Nevertheless it was a team full of promise.

The opposition were the Wayfarers from Epping. They were a team of well built fellows, who were out for a picnic, Aural Sculpture almost became the pudding.

The Wayfarers won the toss and put the home side into bat. Experience showed as Wiskin and Orange crushed the opening attack. The bowling itself was not of West Indies pace, nerves however took their toll.

Wiskin fell for 9 runs but had done what was asked and saw off the opening attack. Jacobs then added 10 before being caught after nervously jabbing at a bad ball.

A collapse then followed of epic proportions. After a confident start the end result was 89 for 9.

Orange had to stand and watch all the wickets fall whilst he amassed a superb 45 before walking in the most sportsman like way I have seen for years.

It took a last man stand between Allum and Bannocks to push the score to a respectable 110 all out.

The Wayferers sensed victory was in sight, they did not count on Allum and Orange. The field by Aural Sculpture was at best appalling, three catches were dropped before the first wicket fell. The Wayferers batting was patchy but consistent. They had no real need to worry as four further catches were dropped whilst they amassed a score of 40.

Tim Compton then took to the field, his father Dennis watching from the boundary. He slowly but surely added a sterling 38 to the score. Allum soon after put paid to his and his team's hopes, with a distinctive caught and bowled.

Allum then went on to destroy the tail end finishing with figures of 6-31.

The match had a breathtaking finish, with plenty of overs left the remaining wicket fell as a ball was pushed high to the safe hands of Orange at long off.

Thus ended a fine day's cricket. Aural Sculpture have to ask themselves did they deserve to win. I think the answer to that is just about.

Steve 'Scoop' Jacobs.

State of the Coffers report from the Treasurer

Well, having overspent the coffers by £27 (£17 when Rob O. shells out his £10!). Teas and match fees, by present form, will not recoup much unless we are all vigilant and charge for guests, visitors and non-member players. However, probably another 10 to 20 sheets each will cover extra expenses such as balls etc.

Thanks to Kate, Linda, Jurg ("Parkie") and fellow supporters
